

Child of the Stars and Sea

by Crazydragonlady101

Category: Ultimate Spider-Man

Genre: Adventure, Family

Language: English

Characters: A. Ayala/White Tiger, Loki, OC, Thor

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-15 06:33:20

Updated: 2016-04-15 06:33:20

Packaged: 2016-04-27 17:43:28

Rating: T

Chapters: 1

Words: 849

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Estella Rivera was just a normal 16 year old girl. Expect for the fact that her marine biologist mom and her are witches, and one of her siblings is a giant snake. Also her dad is one of the most wanted criminals on S.H.I.E.L.D's list...okay maybe not so normal. But if there is one thing Estella knows, she will do what she can to protect her missed-matched family.

Child of the Stars and Sea

There is no such thing as a 'perfect' family. Every family has their issues, be it large or small.

Some people have wonderful families since their birth.

Some wish they never had a family at all.

Some might not even be related by blood at all, but they are still a family all the same.

This is a story, about a girl who put her family before all else in the world. No matter how broken it could be at times, and was willing to give up just about everything to keep them safe.

Even at the cost of her own life.

_But if we are to tell that story, we must start from the very beginning. _

When the Sea and the Stars, had a child..

* * *

>Delma Rivera looked down at the small bundle in her arms and wondered just what the hell she was doing. But here she was, sitting in the brand new nursery in her brand new house, waiting for a man she wasn't even sure would come.

At that moment the bundle decided to let out a small yawn as she wriggled in her blanket. Delma couldn't help but smile, this was not a situation she ever thought she'd be in, but..it wasn't that bad.

"Kid, the moment you turn into a teenager I'm teaching you all about the importance of contraception.." she said with a dry laugh. As she looked to the clock and saw the time, she figured he really was a no show. Not that she expected much, gently she laid her daughter down in her crib and turned off the lights, heading off to bed.

As she walked into the hallway she heard a knock at the door much to her surprise. Heart pounding in her chest she walked over and unlocked the door, it's now or never.

"Delma" greeted the man in the doorway, his voice smooth as his raven black hair. He wore a mostly neutral expression, a small smile and a twinkle in his bright green eyes. He looked even paler than usual under the porch light.

"Loki" she replied in turn. As she looked at him she couldn't help but see how much they contrast each other. Her hair was a light brown, long and tied in a messy bun. Her eyes a dark, almost black, and her skin brown.

"Now I can't stay that long, but Jor said it was important I see you."

"That's one way to put it.." Delma moved from the doorway and closed it as he walked inside.

"So what is it that is so urgent? Not that I mind being pulled away from yet another banquet for Thor and his friends' victory over some sort of monster or another. But my absence will be noticed in a while."

"Well it's-" Delma paused, trying to find her words. Just how does she put this? _'hey so remember how we had sex several months ago? well...'_

No, no that's no good.

"You know what? I'll just show you." Loki raised an eyebrow, but said nothing, even as he followed Delma into the nursery.

His breath caught in his throat the moment he saw the crib. He looked to Delma, who only looked towards the crib with a soft expression. Loki stepped closer, slowly, and for the second time that night he felt his breath taken away as he looked into the crib.

There sleeping soundly, was a baby girl barely a month old. There was barely any hair on her head, and the redness of her brown skin made her look a bit akin to a tomato, but to Loki she looked like one of the most beautiful things he's ever seen in all the nine realms.

He turned his head towards Delma. "Is she..?"

Delma nodded. "Yes, I made sure and yes, she is yours."

Loki looked down again at the baby,_ his baby,_ and slowly so not to wake her, picked her up and held her in his arms.

"Look, I didn't ask you to come for any favors or whatever. I just thought...I just thought you had the right to know.."

"..what's her name?" Loki asked, holding her up as close to his chest protectively.

"Estella, her name is Estella."

"Estella.." Loki murmured, he smiled as he looked at her still asleep in his arms. "Estella I promise, I will care for you as much as I can."

* * *

>And he would try to his best to uphold that promise. But as time passed by, and as he suffered more, the darkness that started to grow inside him would slowly tear him apart for those few he still loved and held dear.

And so the Sea would turn her back on the Stars...

* * *

>[Gosh! Thank you for reading the first chapter of my story! I've been wanting to write this for a while but never got the courage until now! Please tell me what you think so far of it so far :D]

End
file.